Donna

Read your piece in the DB this morning. You should get out of the office more. I'm not sure what Watts looks like with its homeless problems, presumably according to JB, a lot less. This is not true for San Pedro. The Urban Campers between 9th and 7th streets all along Palos Verdes are back in numbers. This has been a problem for 2 ½ years at ground zero. Perhaps a relevant question would have been "Why after more than 2 ½ years are thirty or so people living on the street around the Post Office?" Instead, we got a statistical answer that is not supported by reality around the Post Office.
